King Conservation District is a special purpose district, funded by you, with a mission to promote the sustainable use of natural resources through responsible stewardship in King County.

Board members contribute local perspectives on important natural resource management and conservation issues, seek feedback about conservation programs from District residents, set KCD policy, and direct KCD's work plan and budget.

A five-member Board of Supervisors is responsible for overseeing all KCD programs and activities.

Each year KCD holds an election for one board position. All registered voters within KCD's service area are eligible to vote in the election.
